▪ Key Examples of Olympus Initiatives for Improving Employees' Health

Under the slogan "Let's get in the habit of exercising," the following initiatives were implemented.

1. Walking campaign

Walking campaigns have been held four times a year in collaboration with Olympus' health insurance association. Employees sign up for each campaign via the "WellsPort Navi" health support app, and keep a record of their daily steps and level of achievement during each campaign period. Those who reach their goal are given points for health support tools or gift vouchers. Over 10,000 employees participated in the campaign.

2. Distribution of the Get Healthier Newsletter, health information for employees

To encourage employees to lead healthy, vigorous lives, each month Olympus sends out the Get Healthier Newsletter by email, promoting employees' voluntary health promotion activities.

3. Measurement of posture and exercise guidance

As our posture deteriorates and opportunities for exercise decrease due to desk work, posture measurement, INBODY measurement, and individual guidance by an exercise instructor are conducted (4 sessions in total). The event provides guidance on how to measure one's own posture and stretching while checking the numerical measurement results. A total of more than 180 employees participated.

▪ About the Sports Yell Company Certification

The "Sports Yell Company" program is a certification system of the Japan Sports Agency, which certifies companies that actively promote measures to improve employee health by encouraging and supporting sports activities. Certification has been conducted annually since 2017.
